

Subject: Announcement and call for papers, Well-being, Happiness and the Environment workshop, Stirling, 8-9 April 2010

The University of Stirling (Division of Economics) and the Scottish Institute for Research in Economics (SIRE) are pleased to announce the Well-being, Happiness and the Environment workshop, a two-day event that will take place on the 8 - 9 April 2010.

Speakers include:

Prof. David J Maddison, University of Birmingham, UK
Prof. Heinz Welsch, University of Oldenburg, Germany
Prof. Peter Martinsson, University of Gothenburg, Sweden
Dr. Katrin Rehdanz, Christian-Albrechts University of Kiel
Dr. Liam Delaney, UCD Geary Institute, Ireland

The principal aim of this workshop is to assess the contribution of the recent economic literature that links directly self reported measures of mental health, life satisfaction or happiness to environmental quality. What can we learn on the relationship between environment and well - being from this literature? Can this data be used to inform cost benefit analyses and public policies?

Call for papers

The workshop is open to applied, theoretical and methodological contributions. Please submit your abstract by the 8th March 2010 to mirko.moro@stir.ac.uk.

Expenses

The Division of Economics will cover up to two nights accommodation and will consider a travel bursary for the presenters with no travel budget.

Full details including background information can be found here.

For further information, please contact Mirko Moro at mirko.moro@stir.ac.uk